By The Associated Press
Thousands of persons fled the rampaging Arkansas River today as it continued its destructive swath across Kansas. The torrent of water, ranging from one to five miles wide, moved ponderously into Larned early today after more than 1,000 persons moved from their homes in the southeast part of the city.

Governor And House Speaker Swap Criticism

LANSING (AP) — Democratic legislative leaders Monday answered Gov. George Romney's verbal attack, describing him as "an expert on parades, ceremonial presentations and political rallies."

Romney told a Republican meeting Saturday that legislative Democrats had created an image of themselves as supporters of Sunday liquor sales, dog-race tracks and legislative pay raises instead of tending to fiscal responsibilities.

Romney "is uninformed on the work of the legislature, as his irresponsible and distorted summary of the 1965 session shows," said House Speaker Joseph Kowalski, D-Detroit.

Senate Majority Leader Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, said in the past several months "the legislature has adopted more significant legislation than the previous majority party (Republicans) did in the past 10 years."

"It is unfortunate," said Dzendzel, "that because of his personal ambitions, the governor has, at this crucial time, made accusations that could impair the heretofore cooperative relationship between the legislative and executive branches of government."

Romney said the Democratic legislative majority is trying to "spend Michigan back into bankruptcy."

He denounced House approval of a 5 per cent business profits tax later killed in the Senate and the legislature's rejection of his proposal to eliminate tolls on the Mackinac Bridge.

Defending the legislature's record, Dzendzel said significant legislation, "such as senior citizens tax relief, revision of the workmen's compensation law and unemployment compensation law, construction safety laws, water pollution controls, and other key accomplishments in the areas of education and mental health were adopted with support from the minority party."

Kowalski said, "we're not perfect. But we have worked hard and conscientiously at this session of the legislature. And we have produced a fine record of legislative progress."

prepared to move before the crest, traveling about 2 miles per hour, hits there later today.

The flood was spawned by last week's torrential rains in Colorado where flood damage may total $125 million.

Adding to the havoc were heavy rains in scattered parts of the Kansas flood region Monday night. Jetmore, north of Dodge City, got 3.75 inches of rain in two hours, 2 inches or more fell in about one hour at Larned and Great Bend, and 1.65 fell at Rozel, west of Larned.

The flood waters continued to recede at Dodge City, where 1,800 were forced from their homes over the weekend.

At Garden City, where 300 families were left homeless, residents were wading in the remnants of the worst flood in the city's history late Monday when a dust storm blew in on southerly winds of 40 knots, cutting visibility to less than a block.

The water at Larned was expected to exceed the high marks of 1942 and 1951 by 4 to 5 feet, which would place all the business district under water. Sand bags were piled around stores 10 blocks back from the river on the north side.

At Great Bend, store fronts were sandbagged as far as 15 blocks from the normally calm river channel.

Gov. John A. Love of Colorado called the flood "the greatest natural disaster" in that state's history and said he was considering calling a special flood relief session of the Colorado Legislature.

All U.S. Forces In S. Viet Nam Get Combat Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department says all the 53,400 American military men in South Viet Nam will be eligible for $55 a month in combat pay, unless they are specifically excepted by local commanders.

Until now, combat pay only went to those in Viet Nam who spent at least six days a month in areas where they were subject to hostile fire.

Monday's announcement said the revised policy would make special combat pay available to men injured or wounded by hostile fire, explosion of mines or other hostile action in the Dominican Republic.

Community College State Aid Boosted

LANSING (AP) — The House approved a record $188 million higher education bill Monday, adding enough fat for trimming in House-Senate bargaining sessions.

Michigan's rapidly expanding community colleges were the chief beneficiaries of last-minute amendments on the floor of the House. They also were slated to be the chief bargaining point with the Senate.

The per-pupil allotment to community colleges was raised to $275—boosting the total allocation to $11.5 million, or nearly 70 per cent more than this year's appropriation of $6.9 million.

Colorado Flood Spoils Liquor Worth $250,000

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A quarter of a million dollars worth of liquor is going to be destroyed because of last week's floods.

The liquor, including imported whiskies, scotches, gins, wines and champagnes, is in flooded basement rooms of the liquor division of McKesson & Robbins, Inc.

The spirits must be destroyed under a court ruling of the early 1950s which states any bottled liquor covered by flood water is no longer fit for human consumption.

Leo S. Sullivan, general manager of McKesson & Robbins, said the bottles will be taken to a dump where agents of the Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division of the U.S. Treasury will supervise their destruction under heavy rollers.

Bundy Defends U.S. War Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidential adviser McGeorge Bundy confronted critics of the Johnson administration's Viet Nam policies Monday night and said "the policy which the United States is now following is the best policy in a difficult and dangerous situation."

That policy, Bundy asserted, "is that we should stay there, that we should do our part, as may become necessary, do only what is necessary, and seek constantly, as we have for months and months, to find a way to get this dangerous and difficult business to the conference room."

Speaking for the critics, Dr. Hans Morgenthau, professor of political science at the University of Chicago, said, "I think our aim must be to get out of Viet Nam but to get out of it with honor." He rejected the idea of an immediate withdrawal and said the United States should seek face-saving devices to rectify the situation, such as the French achieved in their withdrawal from Algeria.

A brisk clash between Bundy and Morgenthau highlighted the hour-long special CBS television and radio program, although there were similarities in the practical steps urged by the two men. Altogether, six foreign policy experts took part in the discussion — three for each side. No new proposals were offered.

Seoul-Tokyo Treaty Signed

TOKYO (AP) — Japan and South Korea signed treaties today to establish normal relations for the first time in 60 years. It was the climax of 14 years of on-and-off negotiations.

Thousands of students staged noisy demonstrations in Seoul and Tokyo to protest the treaties.

Foreign ministers Lee Dong Won of South Korea and Eisaku Sato of Japan signed the documents at the official residence of Premier Eisaku Sato. Sato interrupted an election junket to witness the ceremony which was nationally televised.

The foreign ministers signed a basic treaty, four separate agreements and two protocols, covering diplomatic relations, fisheries, Korean property claims and economic cooperation, the status of Korean nationals residing in Japan, cultural property and cultural cooperation, $300 million in Japanese grants and $200 million in long-term, low-interest loans from Japan.

The negotiations did not settle the status of Takeshima Island which both countries claim. It was referred to further talks.

Party Crashers Fined $15 Each

EAST DETROIT (AP) — Twenty-three youths were fined $15 apiece Monday on disorderly charges after trying to crash a graduation party Sunday night. Police made the arrests with the help of neighbors.

Four other youths pleaded innocent and were released on $50 bond.

Key Measures Await State Senate Action

LANSING (AP) — The Senate plunged into its final 14 hours of bill deliberation today still facing final decisions on half the state budget, Sunday liquor, birth control and other controversial measures.

Nearly 2½ hours of post-midnight deliberations eased pressure a bit but 38 bills remained in position for consideration.

Bills not approved by midnight will be dead at least until fall. Legislators will have three more days this week to work out differences between Senate and House versions of bills approved in both chambers.

The birth control bills sailed through preliminary debate early today with no opposition. Amended and substituted time and again during a perilous journey through the House and committees in the Senate, the measures now permit dissemination of family planning services to welfare recipients and other needy females.

State agencies can initiate discussion of such services but cannot coerce a person into requesting the information or materials. It would essentially permit existing agency policies to continue.

Mostly routine preliminary approval was given four appropriations bills totaling about $346 million. They cover expenditures for conservation, recreation, agriculture, regulatory services, general government operation and use of earmarked revenues such as highway and waterways money.

Most hotly debated—and tentatively adopted 12-9—was a $50,000 fund for defense costs of state officials brought before the governor for a removal-from-office hearing.

Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, the majority leader, pointed to the recent National Guard hearings before Gov. George Romney as evidence of the need for such a fund. He said defense fees of deposed Adjutant General Ronald McDonald and reinstated Quartermaster General Carson Neifert exceeded $20,000.

House Passes 37 Bills, Has 49 For Today

LANSING (AP) — The Senate was expected to give final approval today to a 20 per cent hike in unemployment compensation benefits and send the bill to Gov. George Romney for the boss.

The Senate-approved measure passed the House 80-13 without debate. It was returned to the Senate for concurrence in minor House amendments.

In a 9½-hour session, the House passed a $188 million higher education appropriations bill, killed an attempt to remove restrictions against a road through the Porcupine Mountains State Park, killed an attempt to lower the tolls on the Mackinac Bridge and a Senate-approved bill to lower the penalty for the illegal dispensing of narcotics.

One day left for the passage of Senate bills, the House passed 37 Monday and has 49 to dispose of today.

The House also approved a Senate bill to provide health services for children in private and parochial schools on the same basis as they are provided to public school students.

Two legislators from Detroit suburbs amended a routine Senate bill to add a provision for semiannual inspection and safety standards for carnival rides.

The unemployment bill would raise the maximum weekly benefit for a single worker from $33 to $43 a week. Benefits would jump $10 to $12 a week for all other workers. The maximum for a worker with five or more dependents would jump from $60 to $72.

Backers of the bill quoted the Michigan Employment Security Commission as saying the bill would not hike employer assessments in the near future because of a high level of employment and a resultant large surplus in the compensation fund.

One worker covered The bill would bring any employee with one worker under the bill—instead of four as at present. This would bring an estimated 60,000 new employees under the bill—double the present number—and raise the number of workers covered from 1.9 million to more than 2 million.

The measure also does away with the so-called "automatic death" clause, under which a worker who quits or is fired for misconduct loses all claims to benefits. Should it become law, they would lose benefits for only a one-week waiting period and six weeks thereafter.

The narcotics bill, introduced by Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park, in its original form would have lowered the mandatory 20-year-to-life sentence for illegal dispensing of narcotics to 5-years-to-life.

The health services bill was passed 99-2, and went to Romney for action, after a second attempt by Rep. Albert Kramer, D-Oak Park to strike language exempting children whose parents objected, from receiving the health tests and services was defeated.

Liquor Control Violations Are Very, Very Low

People in Michigan seem to be drinking more alcoholic beverages, but even if they're not the state's increasing population is boosting consumption to what is expected to be a 10 per cent greater volume this calendar year than in 1964.

Donald S. Leonard, chairman of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, which is holding its annual summer meeting in the Upper Peninsula in Escanaba today and Wednesday, reviewed trends in liquor control which included:

1. State and federal legislation to tighten the tax laws and restrict imports of duty free liquor.

2. Friendly commission view of the Specially Designated Dealers quest for more profit on their liquor sales.

3. Continuing review of the adequacy of liquor license distribution.

Enforcement Good

4. Denial of tax relief to Michigan breweries by the Legislature. Several Michigan breweries have closed but out-of-state breweries must pay the same taxes to do business in Michigan as state breweries, although they do have a sales advantage over Michigan border situation like that in the U. P. along the Wisconsin line.

5. Liquor law enforcement that is rated by Leonard "in pretty good shape." In 1964 there were 2,966 days of license suspensions for violations, compared with 1,996 in 1963, and fines of $159,000 compared with $113,000.

Nuisance Taxes Cut Off Today; Shoppers Save

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you buy a piece of jewelry today, a lipstick, a handbag, a suitcase or even a knapsack, you won't have to pay a federal retail tax on it — for the first time in years.

Those so-called nuisance taxes were among the federal excise taxes wiped out at midnight after President Johnson signed the $4.7-billion tax cut bill in a White House ceremony Monday.

Other excise taxes are being reduced in stages. The first-stage cuts on two big ones — cars and air conditioners — are retroactive to last May 15, so that if you bought one of these anytime since then you'll get a refund. On cars the refund should average about $70.

As he used dozens of souvenirs to sign the bill, Johnson called it "a bright day for all Americans."

The President said "this excise tax bill will make its maximum contribution to our economic health only if businesses pass along to consumers the full amount of the reduction in the

6. Hope of liquor commissioners for increases in salary from their $14,000-$15,000 level to a point nearer some of their employees in the $20,000 a year class.

Still Dry

Leonard said that although half of Michigan's townships are still "dry" in the sense that they do not permit the sale of spirits, only the sale of beer and light wines, Michigan in the current year expects to make a profit of $107 to $110 million on its sale of liquor and beer. The state has a monopoly system of liquor control and its had gross sales of $205 million in 1964.

Its markup over distillers' prices is 58 per cent, composed of a basic 46 per cent on spirits, plus a 4 per cent tax for schools, a 4 per cent excise tax for the general fund and a 4 per cent sales tax.

The state licenses 2,200 grocery and drug stores and other such establishments as Specially Designated Dealers in liquor and permits them a 10 per cent discount so they make a total of $150 million a year. The Package Liquor Dealers Association has cited that the dealers haven't had a profit rate increase in 20 years and have asked an increase.

"We thought the request legitimate," said Leonard. Bars are given a 12.5 per cent discount.

Enemy Targets Blasted North Of Hanoi Line

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. fighter-bombers made their deepest penetration of North Viet Nam today and for the first time poured bombs and rockets into targets north of the "Hanoi line."

A U.S. spokesman said one raid was against army barracks at Son La, 110 miles west northwest of Hanoi and only 80 miles from the Red Chinese border. It also was 55 miles from Dien Bien Phu, where the French army went down to final defeat in Indochina.

Eight U.S. Air Force F105 Thunderchiefs dropped 17 tons of 750-pound general purpose bombs on the complex, destroying nine buildings and damaging 20 others, the spokesman said.

Depot Damaged The Thunderchiefs, escorted by 20 other planes, were over the target for 30 minutes, the spokesman said.

Another group of eight Thunderchiefs with the same 20 escorts attacked the Van Nuoc Chien ammunition depot 70 miles west northwest of Hanoi, the spokesman said. Moderate damage was reported to the target, an indication that there were no secondary explosions caused by exploding ammunition.

No enemy aircraft were sighted and antiaircraft fire was light to moderate, the spokesman said.

The previous northernmost penetration of North Viet Nam was a U.S. Navy strike against Hon Gay, 75 miles east of Hanoi. This was during the August 1964 Gulf of Tonkin crisis.

The nearest raid to Hanoi was 45 miles to the south earlier this year.

Pilot Bails Out

In all some 60 U.S. and Vietnamese air force and U.S. Navy planes dropped about 300 tons of bombs on widely scattered targets in North Viet Nam today, U.S. spokesmen said. Targets included barracks, supply depots, bridges and ferries.

A U.S. Air Force pilot bailed out of his F100 Super Sabre Jet 25 miles south of Da Nang, in South Viet Nam, and was quickly picked up safe by an American helicopter. The plane was not hit by enemy fire, a U.S. military spokesman said.

In Saigon, a Viet Cong terrorist shouted "Down with the Americans" as he died before a firing squad for trying to blow up an American billet in a Saigon suburb.

Two U.S. Marines were killed when their jeep hit a land mine 6½ miles west of Da Nang. They were en route to re-establish contact with an artillery unit which was without communications, a U.S. spokesman said.

The death of the Marines brought the number of American combat dead in Viet Nam to 419.

The defiant Communist, Tran Van Dang, 25, was executed at dawn in Saigon's central market square while newsmen and photographers watched.

Tied To Stake

Dang began shouting Communist slogans as he was hauled from the van. A Catholic priest stood near him for a moment, but the terrorist paid no attention.

As he was being tied to the stake in a sandbagged enclosure, Dang repeatedly shouted in Vietnamese "Long live Ho Chi Minh," the president of Communist North Viet Nam.

The squad took position, fired and Dang's head sagged forward. An officer administered the coup de grace with a pistol. The execution took about one minute.

Police picked up Dang March 20 as he was setting a fuse to an explosive charge hidden in his motor scooter outside an American billet in suburban Gia Dinh. Police found a plastic charge, a battery-operated time device and two fuses in the luggage compartment of Dang's scooter.

Police said Dang confessed he was trying to blow up the building. He pleaded guilty at a military trial April 9.

Noted Athlete Sent To Luce

James E. Neal has accepted an appointment as Michigan State University Luce County Extension director. A 1955 forestry graduate at MSU, Neal will also serve as a consultant in forestry development and forest products in Chippewa and Mackinac counties.

Neal, 32, and his wife, Lilian, a registered nurse, are both natives of Lower Michigan. They plan to establish a home in Newberry. They have two daughters, Elizabeth, 4 and Martha, 18 months.

Neal played football while attending MSU and participated in both the Rose Bowl and the Senior Bowl in 1954. He was awarded the Ross Trophy for being named the senior with the best combined athletic and academic record for the year.

After serving with the U. S. Army in 1956 Neal was employed by the West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co. of Charleston, S. C., where he helped manage 32,000 acres of private forest lands. He worked with 55 landowners, assisting them with cruising, writing management plans, marking and selling forest products and supervising tree planting and timber stand improvement projects.

The new Extension director has served as deacon in the Presbyterian Church, as a Sunday school teacher and as an advisor in the church recreation program. He is a member of the Society of American Foresters and is also a member of the Kiwanis Club.

Voters Approve New Wells Hall

The voters of Wells Township in a special election Monday approved the construction of a township hall whose cost will not exceed $60,000. The building will be financed by reserve township funds accumulated for the purpose over a period of years.

One hundred and ninety-two votes were cast, of which 166 were "yes" and 26 were "no" to the township hall building proposition.

Charles Sedenquist, Wells Township supervisor, said the building project has been under consideration for a number of years and the funds have been accumulating for more than 17 years.

The new building of concrete block and brick will be located in the village of Wells between Highland Ave. and the Gardens of Rest Cemetery. A ball diamond and tennis court are a part of the site.

The one-story building will have a total of 4,000 square feet of floor space, with a meeting hall 38 by 40 feet for public gatherings. Township offices will be in the front.

Harry Gjelsteen of Menominee is building architect. His working plans are expected to be ready in about six weeks, the taking of construction bids will follow, and the building is expected to be finished before winter.

There will be vault space in the building for township records, which are now kept at the homes of the township officers. For example, the township's assessment rolls and other papers related to the office of supervisor are in Sedenquist's home; while the records of the clerk are with Alfred Groos and those of the treasurer with James Anderson.

The present building used for a township hall is inadequate for its purpose. The building was deeded to Wells Township and to what was then St. Joseph's Mission, now St. Anthony's parish, by the I. Stephenson Co. many years ago.

Bay College Is Club Topic

Prospects for 1965-66 at the Bay de Noc Community College were discussed by Richard Rinehart, president of the college, in a talk at the Escanaba Kiwanis Club meeting Monday.

The estimated enrollment for next year at Bay College is 500, Rinehart said, with 270 full-time students, 180 part-time students and 50 practical nurses. Full-time freshmen total 170, and there will be 100 sophomores, added to 80 part-time equated and 20 summer equated for a total of 370, not including the nurses.

As of the first week in June, the enrollment included 103 boys and 63 girls with 80 per cent from Delta County and 20 per cent from adjacent counties. The faculty planned for '65-66 will be 20 full-time instructors and 10 part-time. New members of the faculty are expected to bring varied new interests to the college studies.

A survey made recently supplied information on programs desired by local prospective students. Courses mentioned most frequently were fields of electronics, drafting and engineering. In the business fields, where Rinehart said good jobs are available, the interest was surprisingly small.

Classes in general education for adults will be continued at the college and more classroom space has been made available for this program. Community service, working in cooperation with local clubs and civic groups, will also be a part of the college's field.

The program was arranged for the Kiwanis Club by William Van Effen.

Porcupine Park Wins Out Again In Legislature

LANSING (AP) — The wild Porcupine Mountains State Park weathered another storm in the House Monday night.

The park was the subject of heated debate for the third time in recent years.

Amid pleas for "unity between Michigan's two peninsulas," the House defeated, 47-44, a Senate-approved bill that would have forbidden the Conservation Department from interfering with extension of M 107 through the eight by 22-mile park on the shores of Lake Superior.

The basic question in the House debate was: "which is better — to have a wilderness area touched only by nature, and which only the most physically fit ever see, or to put in roads that will allow many people to enjoy its beauty?"

The backers of the first proposition won over the "populists," led by Upper Peninsula representatives. The bill was introduced by Sen. Joseph Mack, D-Ironwood, and passed the Senate with little discussion. Rep. Russell Hellman, D-Dollar Bay, said he would move to reconsider the vote today.

Rep. Joseph Snyder, D-St. Clair Shores, chairman of the House Conservation Committee, which had approved the bill, argued against it.

"This is an asset of such magnitude that any hasty action could destroy it for unborn generations," he said, adding the plea for unity.

"This park does not belong to the Upper Peninsula, any more than the state capital belongs to the Lower Peninsula," he said. "They both belong to all the people of Michigan. We are not two separate peninsulas with two separate points of view. We are one great state and must work together."

The attack was led by Rep.

Warren Goemaere, D-Roseville, who called it and previous legislation introduced by Mack "one big scheme to commercialize this park—the only wilderness from the Smokey Mountains to Wyoming."

Earlier Mack bills would have reduced the park from its present 58,000 acres to 1,000 acres. Opponents said this would have opened the rest of the area to lumbering and possible mining. "I've watched pork-barrelling in this legislature before without saying anything, because I realize the Upper Peninsula has economic problems and needs all the help we can give it," Goemaere said.

Previous U.P. exemption attempts would have ruined the inland lakes and streams bill which limits dredging and filling, he added.

Former Resident Dies In Florida

William Brumbaugh, 77, former resident of Escanaba and husband of Rose Klingler, also a former resident of this city, died suddenly Monday morning at Fort Pierce, Fla.

Mr. Brumbaugh was a retired machinist for the Chicago & North Western Railway. After leaving Escanaba he lived in Chicago and had resided in Florida the past 35 years.

He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Helen of Bethesda, Md., and Mrs. Earl (Isabelle) Bursley of Melbourne, Fla., and a number of grandchildren. Joseph Klingler of 321 N. 20th St., Escanaba, is a brother-in-law.

Arrangements for the services which will be held in Fort Pierce, are not known.

Divers Missing In Devil's Hole

DEATH VALLEY, Calif. (AP) — Rescue teams continued a road-the-clock search today for two divers missing in the un-plumbed depths of Devil's Hole, but officials held little hope that the pair would be found alive.

Ten fresh teams arrived late Monday night to relieve 10 divers who spent all Monday plunging in relays for David Rose, 20, and Paul Gianconteri, 19, who failed to surface after a dive at midnight Sunday.

Additional divers from the Pacific Northwest and Los Angeles areas also have volunteered to aid in the search.

But officials at Death Valley National Monument said there was little hope of recovering the victims.

Devil's Hole, 90 miles northwest of Las Vegas, Nev., is a deep fissure in the desert floor filled with warm water.

Sentence Upheld In Child's Death

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Court of Appeals today upheld the manslaughter convictions of a woman who placed her 8-month-old daughter under an auto's wheels, and her husband, who ran over the child.

The court said Wilfred and Gladys Jackson of Harris, Menominee County, argued at their home Dec. 7, 1962, and Mrs. Jackson, in an attempt to keep her husband from leaving, placed the baby, Jacqueline, behind the wheels of the car.

In a written statement, she said she kept her husband at home once before by placing the child under the car.

Menominee County Circuit Judge Ernest Brown found the couple guilty of manslaughter in a nonjury trial.

On appeal, the Jacksons contended that commission of the crime could not be shown without use of their statements or confessions. They also questioned whether evidence at their trial was sufficient to convict them.

The Appeals Court held that testimony of a doctor who examined the child established the crime and the formal signed statements of the couple were sufficient evidence.

Young Slayers Go To Gallows

LANSING, Kan. (AP) — Two young men, who had boasted of killing seven persons, showed a complete reversal of attitude as they went in solemn repentance to the gallows and were hanged early today.

George Ronald York, 22, of Jacksonville, Fla., and James Douglas Latham, 23, of Mauriceville, Tex., were executed at the Kansas Prison.

As bitter teenagers four years ago, they scoffed at society, termed life a "rat race," and said they looked forward to execution.

Facing the gallows today, York said:

"I've nothing to say except I'm glad to be going home to heaven, and I hope to meet you people up there."

"I know it won't do much good to say I'm sorry, but I know God has forgiven me and I hope you people can see fit to do the same."

Latham said simply:

"I'm not mad at anybody." At York's request a prison chaplain, the Rev. Edgar Meissner read from the 23rd Psalm before the trap was sprung.

Youth, 15, Admits Shooting At Swan In Escanaba River

Michigan Dept. of Conservation officers, investigating a series of waterfowl shooting incidents on the Escanaba River this spring, have "cleared up" the April 18 killing of a state and federally-protected swan.

Law officers said a 15-year-old boy admitted shooting at waterfowl and the swan with a shotgun after seeing two other youths shooting at the birds with .22 caliber rifles.

Officers said the bird died as a result of wounds from shotgun pellets.

The boy was turned over to Probate Court. Part of the punishment imposed by Judge Marie Peters was that he receive two hours of game-law instruction administered by conservation officers.

John J. Pickard, 226 N. 12th St., Escanaba, who allowed the boy unlicensed use of the shotgun, was arrested for contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Picard pleaded guilty to the charge before Justice A. J. Mortier of Gladstone and paid a fine and costs of $25. A 10-day jail sentence was suspended.

Sweeper Kills Mother Of Five

HAVEN, Kan. (AP) — Mrs. Harold Johnson, 34, mother of five, was electrocuted accidentally Monday while cleaning a rug with a vacuum sweeper at her home. Officers said there was a short circuit in the sweeper and she received a fatal shock when she stepped on a furnace grating.

Cancer Services Up; Funds Down

The requests for cancer services are increasing in Delta County and the contributions to the Cancer Crusade fund are the lowest they have been in many years, according to reports to the Delta County Cancer Society at its meeting at the Chamber of Commerce office in Escanaba Monday night.

Dr. N. J. Theisen, radiologist, told the Cancer Society that the use of St. Francis Hospital cancer therapy services has doubled in the past six months. The local facility served more patients during that period than did those in one of the larger downstate hospitals, he reported.

Mrs. Lee Miller, treasurer of the local Cancer unit, reported expenditures by the Society reflected the increased loads. At the present time the chapter is providing assistance and services to 14 patients.

Arthur Neiman, president of the local unit of the Cancer Society, said that contributions to the Crusade total $4,720 so far.

Council Plans Crafts Leader For Peninsula

The Upper Peninsula Crafts Council moved another step nearer creation of an office of full time crafts director for the U.P. at its Monday meeting in the House of Ludington.

The Council has promoted craft arts and industries in the Upper Peninsula for more than a half decade and it brought to its guidance Monday Ben E. Watkins, New York City, in charge of research for the American Crafts Council.

Watkins said that the decision on a project to create a crafts director with financing by the Area Redevelopment Administration and probably one of the educational foundations was one for the Council, which was more familiar than he with Upper Peninsula potentials.

Stimulus Sought

"There still is a question in my mind about the need," he told the U.P. craftsmen. "You can get people to come in here from the outside. The potters can't all go to the big cities. And Washington has money for professional directors in the crafts, but the channels for it have not been established yet. Our Council is working toward establishment of a coordinating committee and we have some hope in this area. Within a year there should be access to a lot of money."

Charles Folio of Escanaba told Watkins that the U.P. Council felt need of both federal aid and foundation funds in financing the creation of an office of crafts director. The budget would be about $30,000 a year for the type of director sought, as the Council is proposing an office and a travel budget of $6,000 a year to assure that he covers the whole Upper Peninsula in his stimulation of crafts production and that he also attends the crafts and gift item fairs and markets to develop outlets for U.P. production.

Tourist Market

Prime market for the U.P. crafts products would be the tourist industry in the Upper Peninsula, which has been the biggest influence to date in development of handicrafting here, but which has not developed it so that it contributes indignant products in large volume to U.P. tourist shops yet.

Folio said that the eastern Upper Peninsula, which gets the heaviest influx of tourists because of the travel on I 75 into Canada, has developed more crafting than any other area. Gordon Goehring, who operates a ceramics shop at Hessel in the famed Les Cheneaux Islands area and Mrs. Ruth Scherer, a Sault Ste. Marie weaver who is president of the U.P. Council, told of the great variety of crafting in the Chippewa, Mackinaw, Luce counties district.

It includes wood engraving, print making, production of apple head dolls, evergreen decorations, Indian work, weaving, polished and cut rocks, silverware, wood carvings, ceramics and plastics.

Crafts Increase

Watkins said that there has been a huge increase in handicraft industries and arts in the nation in the past decades and particularly in the past few years.

"I don't think it is any solution to the unemployment problem," said Watkins. "I think that that is going to go on forever. In Brooklyn we have 2.5 million persons and over 40 per cent of them are in minority groups and 26 per cent of the males in these groups are unemployed."

Watkins said that he thought the federal retraining program for workers unfair and faulty because it devoted none of its help to crafting, which is particularly helpful to employment because it stresses hand production and not machine methods of duplication.

The U.P. Crafts Council will meet at 10 a.m. Saturday, Aug. 14 at the Northwoods, Marquette, to act on the crafts director project.

ATTENDING THE MEETING OF THE U. P. Crafts Council at the House of Ludington Monday were, clockwise: Mrs. Gunther E. Meyland, Marquette; Mrs. Ruth Scherer, Sault Ste. Marie, president; Charles Folio, Escanaba, vice president; Ben Watkins, director of research, American Crafts Council, New York City; Mrs. Ingrid Tervonen, Delta County Extension agent; Gordon Goehring, Hessel and Mrs. Alice Reynolds, Copper Harbor. ## Project Head Start Begins At Bark River

BARK RIVER — Pre-kindergarten children of the Bark River-Harris School District are embarking in Project Head Start, with approximately 50 children enrolled for the summer sessions.

Three bus routes have been set up with Bus No. 1 driven by Emil Martin, will handle Perronville, Whitney, 551 and U.S. 2-41; Bus No. 6, driven by Ed Ryan, will travel in the south-west end of Harris Township, including 47 mile road, and the Presbyterian Church area; Bus No. 8, with Bob Hakes, will pick up children in Schaffer, M 69, Bark River, and the South Bark River Road.

Three regular teachers on the staff of the school have been secured for the project. They are Miss Jane Bratina, Mrs.

Geraldine Bell and Mrs. Charlotte Tossignant and Mrs. Barbara Seymour each day, and by any available parents, as they can find time to help.

The program will run from 10 to 1 each day. There will be a free noon lunch. Parents who have questions about the program are invited to contact the superintendent of schools.

Anglers in the United States spend $300 million a year on fishing tackle and gadgets.

Three Teachers Fill Vacancies At Bark River

BARK RIVER — Superintendent Richard Hendra announced today that the 1965-66 staff for the Bark River-Harris Public Schools has been completed.

Three of the District's 27 teachers resigned upon completion of the recently completed school year. They were Mrs. Ethel LaVigne, and Mrs. Mary Ellen MacMartin, who retired, and C. B. Roels, who moved to a new position in Idaho.

Mrs. Bernadette Arkens of Harris has been secured to teach one of the third grades. Mrs. Arkens attended Wisconsin State College at LaCrosse and will graduate from Northern Michigan University with a B.S. degree on July 30, 1965. She taught elementary grades in Wisconsin before moving to Michigan in 1952. She began teaching third grade in Powers in 1958, and remained there for the past six years.

Thomas L. DeBakker of Vulcan, has been hired to teach High School biology, conservation, and to coach for the 1965-66 academic year. He is a June graduate of Northern Michigan University, was an outstanding athlete while attending Vulcan High School. The 6'3" stand-out helped to lead his teammates to good seasons in basketball and track. DeBakker plans to reside in Schaffer after his marriage in August of this year.

Dennis R. Fay of Hillsdale is the third addition to the staff. He graduated from Pelston High School, his family currently resides in Alpena, and he received his B.S. degree in June, 1965, from Hillsdale College and will be employed to teach English and French in the Bark River-Harris High School. He is currently employed as sports editor of the Hillsdale Daily News.

Fair Trial Publicity

The annual meeting of the Michigan Associated Press at Gaylord last week heard a panel attempt to reconcile two guarantees of the U.S. Constitution. One is the clause that prohibits any restriction on the freedom of the press, and the other is the clause that guarantees accused persons a fair trial.

The trend of criminal legal practice in America in recent years has been increasingly liberal. The Gideon case in Florida, where a man with a criminal record was accused of a crime he didn't commit and hustled off to prison without proper protection of his innocence and freedom, brought on U.S. Supreme Court action which has resulted in state systems of Judicare. Like Medicare, it is going to be very expensive to the citizens of the state, costing them millions of dollars yearly in tax money to provide legal defenses against charges of crime.

In Michigan persons in prison can now have, at public expense, a copy of the court record of the trial in which they were convicted (costing an estimated average of about $700) and free legal counsel to make an appeal from their conviction. Starting this year this will cost the counties of Michigan millions of dollars. The action was made retroactive so, theoretically at least, nearly all the persons in prison are eligible for this free Judicare.

Reforms usually swing needlessly far in correcting old evils and Judicare seems to be in the process of doing this. It has been quite unsettling among law enforcement agencies, which are in a state of some uncertainty about proper legal action in a situation where the law is providing more and more protections for the accused.

Current accent in this protective trend is focusing on pre-trial publicity. What seems to be coming up is a new order of practice in which the newspapers will be expected to print only the fact that a person has been arrested on a criminal charge. The rest of the information about the case would wait on the trial for revelation.

This, suggest the reformers, would make it possible to create juries which had not been prejudiced against the accused persons by what they had read in newspapers about the crime. The AP panelists—a federal judge, a leader of the Michigan State Bar, two newspaper editors and a professor of communications—couldn't agree and the upshot of the discussion seemed to be that the present indecision between the freedom of the press and the right to fair trial will continue, with editors playing each case by ear on its own merits.

What may be coming up is a court-enforced practice of never mentioning a "confession" by an accused person. Even at present it was suggested that a "statement" is a more proper description of a suspect's comment on his case. The incident of the recent bank robbery at Big Springs, Neb., in which three bank employees were slain by the robber was cited in the panel discussion. Duane Pope, 22, of Roxbury, Kas., just graduated from McPherson College, was arrested for the crime but there were no further explanations by law officers and no statement from the accused. Presumably the new practice is in force here and the trial must be awaited to unfold the evidence.

Federal Judge Stephen Roth of Flint said that he was not as concerned about pretrial publicity as some members of the bench and bar. "Jurors, by and large, decide cases as they are expected to by what appears in the course of the trial as a matter of fact and law," said Judge Roth. "Jurors are pretty solid citizens and they render good decisions and pretrial publicity is not as important as it might appear."

"The law school professors and the bar and bench are willing to impose restrictions on pretrial and trial publicity and law enforcement generally, but I hope the restrictions are not too great."

Atty. Fred Persons of the Michigan Bar Association said that when news media print information that is not admissible at a trial the jurors can read it. "It is," he suggested candidly "like the lawyers who like to get the insurance company angle into a personal injury case. The judge says disregard it, but it's there."

Managing Editor John O'Brien of the Detroit News (a native of Laurium) said the newspapers could not enter into an agreement to abrogate the constitutional guaranty of a free press. This, said O'Brien, is a protection for the people, not the press.

The news media should be in no haste to change their old ways of reporting crime because of the new vogue to protect the suspected and accused. As Judge Roth said, the miscarriages of justice are very few and the effect of reforms now being proposed would have very far-reaching impact on law enforcement, arrest and trial. False-arrest isn't the only bad thing that can happen to our judicial system.

Fear Doesn't Work

In view of the likelihood that health warning labels will eventually be required on cigarette packages, it gives one pause to be told that scaring people is not necessarily the best way to get them to do, or not to do, something for their own good.

This conclusion about human behavior comes from a psychologist with the University of North Carolina School of Public Health and is based primarily on a study of an oral polio vaccination campaign in Florida.

There it was found, reports Dr. C. David Jenkins, that the fear of a disease or the risk of getting a disease doesn't seem to encourage people to seek a way of preventing it or reducing the risk.

Excessive scare campaigns may, in fact, have just the opposite result. Fear of cancer, he says, has actually driven some women away from screening clinics.

Apparently the need is to create a moderate degree of concern in people—something more than apathy but less than fear.

Yet some of the people in Florida took the vaccine because "it was the thing to do. It was socially fashionable. It was a way to become a part of the community."

The psychologist credits newspapers with doing a better job of conveying health information to the public than any other communications medium.

Unfortunately: "Teaching facts doesn't always motivate people's behavior," he says. "There are more emotional factors involved in behavior than a string of facts."

HELPFUL

In your editorial of Wednesday, June 16, 1965, on creating jobs in the U.P., why didn't you come right out and say the union members at the Escanaba Division of the Mead Corp. are keeping expansion out of Escanaba?

Before you write such articles, you should investigate and get the facts. The Mead Corp. did inform the unions at the paper mill of the possibility of expansion. Local 209, United Papermakers and Payerworkers, did honor the company's request for non-restriction of Sunday running providing a new paper machine is installed at the Escanaba Division. In making this decision I can assure you that we members of Local 209 U.P.P. did not only think of ourselves. We had many things to consider. We had to think of job security, the many unemployed in the area, the additional business of the merchants, and many other things too numerous to mention.

What you quoted Mr. Black as saying may be true, I don't know, but you should know this has been no secret to the employees of the Escanaba Division. The union has sat down and discussed this with the company, and has weighed the facts to the fullest extent.

It is the feeling of the employees at Mead that we can sit down and negotiate with the company without your help. I might at this time quote Mr. Black at a union convention of Papermill Workers held in Escanaba last September. He said, quote: "The industry needs unions. Unions and management should sit down at a bargaining table and negotiate."

I am sure Mr. Black did not make these statements you mentioned with the intentions of you starting friction between union and management. What you said is doing nothing but just that. We the union, have what we feel is good relations here in Escanaba and want to continue with these relations without your interference.

Richard E. Johnson, Pres. Local 209 U.P.P.

(Editor's Note: The Press thought Mr. Black's remarks on capital investment in industrial facilities pertinent in a much broader context than Mead employment and commented editorially upon them for this reason. The editorial in question said "Mead's Escanaba mill works Sundays as needed. The healthy attitude of its workers was indicated... etc.")

Boost For GOP

CINCINNATI (NEA) — In politics, actor Ronald Reagan is the man The Speech built.

Already it has helped make him a virtually certain Republican candidate for the California governorship next year and has given him the 1965 crown as champion GOP dinner speaker.

When he offered his spring model of The Speech to some 1,500 conservative Cincinnati and Hamilton County Republicans as part of a statewide salute to new national chairman Ray Bliss, Reagan was re-enacting a part he now has played dozens of times.

His 1,500 listeners here gladly paid $100 each for a plate of rough-textured steak with a small mound of peas, even though they had heard the show before.

That, indeed, was the whole point. They wanted to hear again a performance many said flatly was the one really bright moment of an otherwise bleak 1964 presidential campaign. For them, Reagan's smoothly orchestrated commentary is just about the sweetest Republican music they have ever heard.

Among his listeners in Cincinnati were many who had heard all three Cincinnati-area telecasts of his celebrated October version of The Speech. These reactions were common: "I liked it more each time. . . . If he had done that all through the campaign, Barry Goldwater would have been a shoo-in. . . . He offered Goldwater's views in a way that makes people believe in them. . . . He said what Goldwater should have said, but didn't. . . . He told the truth."

There can be no question, off his latest outing here, that what Reagan offers his partisan audiences is a kind of minor masterpiece in the political leagues. Few politicians in recent decades have troubled to tool their staple platform products so finely.

At base, the Reagan speech is a 40-minute machine gun assault against the federal bureaucracy and the Democrats he holds accountable for its swollen size.

naba mill works Sundays as needed. The healthy attitude of its workers was indicated... etc." The Press, along with the community, commends the United Papermakers and Payerworkers, Local No. 209, on its encouragement of industry in this area with its cooperation in avoidance of restrictive work rules.)

Mr. Michael Lindquist c/o Mr. Otto Lindquist Bark River, Mich.

Dear Michael:

May I be among the many to extend my congratulations to you as being the No. 1 student in the class of 1965 at Michigan State University. I have just returned from an extended trip and was pleased to learn of your outstanding accomplishment particularly with all the hardships that you had to endure.

All of us at Michigan State University Extension Service here in the Upper Peninsula and particularly Mr. Joe Heiman, are proud of you and your family and wish you continued success in your graduate study program.

A. S. Mowery District Extension Director

Boost For GOP

With speed reminiscent of the late John Kennedy's outpourings in his 1960 television debates with Richard Nixon, the 54-year-old Reagan pumps out his bulletins against the federal target. Listeners hear topics flash by almost as fast as details: Taxes, Social Security, farm allotments, the gold balance, poverty fighters' salaries, Viet Nam.

He tells warmly receptive Republicans the Social Security system is $300 billion in the hole, that government activities competing with business have rung up $87 billion in losses, that a corporation each year must fill out 2,700 different federal forms, that businessmen spend 35 per cent of their time in such paper work.

A conscientious reporter would need a month to check out Reagan's statistical barrage for accuracy. Nothing short of a White Paper could provide suitable, documented judgments.

But few of his listeners are nagged by doubts. They watch with approving zest as every well-aimed bullet is fired.

They love the gunfire and the air of authority with which he attacks. They revel in the relish with which he leaps, with a sort of small-town-boy innocence, to the barricades. He knows how to puncture, legitimately, the pomposities and absurdities of a huge bureaucracy.

"A taxpayer?" Reagan asks. "That's someone who works for the government who doesn't have to take a civil service exam."

The status quo "That's Latin," he says, "for the mess we're in." The President "He has to leave the White House lights on now. How else can he read those Republican campaign speeches and know what to do next in Viet Nam?"

Through it all, Reagan smiles disarmingly, sprinkles literary and historical allusions a la Kennedy, blends sober charge and witty sally in a mixture Republicans hungry for sustenance cannot resist.

The Speech has carried Reagan far. But one has to wonder how much farther it can take him into the rugged tests ahead.

People, Events Of Yesteryears

From the files of the Escanaba Daily Press

25 YEARS AGO

While summer was officially ushered in yesterday morning, the temperature reached 39 degrees, the lowest it had been anytime during the month of June.

Miss Norma Hagman has been awarded a gold pin for speed and accuracy in typing. She typed 61 words a minute for ten minutes without error. The award was made by the Gregg Writer of New York.

50 YEARS AGO

Fred L. Keeler, superintendent of public instruction, delivered the commencement address to the 115 graduates of the class of 1915.

Afterwards, he spoke to the Press. He said "Escanaba is the only city of its size in the state of Michigan which does not support a Manual Training School." This isn't a wealthy town, he said, but a home of working people who can't afford to send their children away to a college or university.

More Iron Ore To Be Used

Iron ore consumption will grow at a faster rate than steel production in the years ahead, according to Joseph L. Block, chairman of Inland Steel Co.

The chief executive of the Chicago-based steel producer addressed the annual meeting of the American Iron Ore Association in Oak Brook, Ill., Monday evening.

Block based his prediction on the rapid growth of the basic oxygen process which uses approximately 70 per cent of molten pig iron, produced from iron ore, and 30 per cent steel scrap. The average mixture in the open hearth process is 50 per cent pig iron and 50 per cent scrap.

While the oxygen process accounted for about 12 per cent of steel production last year, Block said this should grow to more than 40 per cent by 1970. Inland and many other steel companies are building oxygen furnaces as replacements for open hearth capacity.

"But," Block cautioned, "do not jump to conclusions as to the exact increased rate of growth for iron ore. No slide rule will give you the answer not even the most sophisticated computer. There are two imponderables which will have a marked effect on the result."

First, the improvement that is constantly taking place in the quality of iron ore. Concentration, screening, pelletizing, and other techniques have brought down the ratio of iron ore to pig iron in recent years.

Secondly, the all-important question of economics. Scrap prices will undoubtedly decline as usage decreases, but will they go so low that steel producers will revert back to more open hearth and electric furnace production — or use new techniques in the basic oxygen process — to increase their use of scrap?

The battle between steel and competitive materials—such as aluminum, plastics, concrete and wood—would continue to rage, Block said.

Ann Landers

Girl, 12, Thinks She Is Unloved

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 12-year-old girl with a horrible problem. Nobody likes me. Last year when I was 11 everybody was just crazy about me. I was the most popular girl in the whole school. All of a sudden I turned ugly and now I don't have a single friend in the world.

There are times when I am sure my own mother doesn't even like me. She yells at me for no reason at all. When my little brother does some bratty thing that isn't a bit cute she laughs and says, "Look at him. Isn't he darling?"

Why has the world turned against me overnight? Has this ever happened to anyone else that you know? I need some advice on how to return to my former popular self. Thank you.—MISS JEKYLL

Dear Miss: I'll bet by the time you read this letter you will have returned to your former popular self—with no help from me.

Everyone has days when he feels ugly and unloved. Then suddenly he snaps back to his sunshiny, beautiful self. He loves everybody and he's sure everybody loves him. This is called human nature and no one can explain it.

Dear Ann Landers: Here's a word to Dixie, the woman who wanted to know what to say to people who ask her why she is not married. I am also 32, single and amazed that so many clods have the guts to ask such a personal question.

In my mid-twenties it dawned on me that I might never meet a man I wanted to marry, so I began to plan for my future. I started at the bottom in this organization and I've worked my way up to an executive position.

What gets me is that so many rockheads are concerned about my love life. "What do you do for a man?" they inquire solicitously. "It's not normal." (Can you imagine such crust?)

If the Good Lord has decided that I'm going to make this earthly trip solo, I'm going to travel in style, first-class. I take a lovely vacation every year. I drive a new car and I wear a mink coat. So, Dixie, when the slob asks you why you aren't married, look 'em in the eye and say, "Just lucky I guess!"—CAREER GIRL

Dear Girl: I like your spirit, Toots. I've said it before and I'll say it again: Marriage is not for everyone.

Dear Ann Landers: My brother is a wonderful person. He is considered smart by everyone who knows him, but when it comes to his personal life I'm afraid he's just plain stupid.

Mel is engaged to a girl who keeps this whole family in an uproar. They are together every evening. He usually gets home about 11:30 P. M. Every fifth or sixth night, after Mel gets home, she telephones him and says she is sick and she needs him. These calls come at about 2:00 or 3:00 in the morning. Mel rushes to her bedside which, of course, breaks up his night's sleep and he is no good at work the next day.

Mother has told Mel that the girl should see a doctor. He says her attacks are not serious and that she needs emotional support. I think she is playing him for a fool in order to get more attention. What do you think?—LITTLE SIS

Dear Sis: It takes two to play the game and your brother seems to be a willing participant.

Don't waste any sympathy on a fellow who would allow his girl to run him ragged. He must get satisfaction out of catering to her demands or he wouldn't hold still for the treatment.

Do you lean on cigarettes as a social crutch? You may regret it later. Send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Teen-Age Smoking," enclosing your request 10c in coin and a long, self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Sandra Raho Bride Of Thomas A. Vietzke

St. Patrick's Church was the setting at 9 a. m. Saturday, June 19, for the wedding of Sandra Lee Raho, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Raho, 1017 S. 17th St., Escanaba, and Thomas A. Vietzke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Vietzke of Rapid River.

Father Thomas Coleman solemnized the double ring ceremony before an altar decorated with bouquets of carnations. The pews were marked with satin ribbon and foliage.

Nuptial music was played by Patti Peck, organist, who accompanied Conrad Beck, soloist of the service.

The bride, escorted by her father, appeared in a Chantilly lace gown, styled with a scalloped neckline and basque bodice. The bouffant of the skirt was accented by a scalloped hemline adorned with sequins and tiers of lace, which cascaded into a chapel length train. Her veil of pure silk illusion was attached to a sculptured rose of lace, outlined with open work pearls and crystal drops on her forehead. She carried a cascade arrangement of white gardenias and roses with trailing ivy. Her cultured pearl pendant was a gift of the bridegroom.

Bridal Aides

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Cynthia Raho. She wore a gown of sea spray green chiffon, styled with a high rise bodice of Venice lace. The sheath skirt was accented by satin ribbon with a bow at the back. A matching headpiece completed her costume. She carried white and sea spray carnations. Judy Vietzke, sister of the bridegroom, and Janet Gasman, bridesmaids, wore identical ensembles and spinel crosses gift of the bride.

Lynette Raho, younger sister of the bride was junior bridesmaid and Cheryl Ann Osieczek of Milwaukee, a cousin, was miniature bride. Lynette's gown was like that of the bridesmaids, but styled with a bouffant skirt, and her headpiece was a pearl trimmed queen's crown with shoulder length veil. She carried a similar bouquet. Cheryl Ann was dressed like the bride. She wore a pearl trimmed crown and carried a basket arrangement of carnations.

Best man was Terry Vietzke, brother of the bridegroom. Attending as groomsmen were Jonathan Ewig of Iron Mountain, a cousin of the bride, and Dick Vietzke, another brother of the bridegroom. Chester Couvillion of Chicago, uncle of the bride, and Henry E. Vietzke, brother of the bridegroom, ushered. Completing the bridal party was Henry Vietzke Jr., who was ring bearer.

Mrs. Raho selected a three-piece ensemble of white Cluny lace over champagne chiffon, with slim skirt and long-sleeved jacket. She wore a pink veiled pillbox and harmonizing accessories. Her corsage was pink sweetheart roses. Mrs. Vietzke was attired in an arnel print dress with matching jacket with which she wore beige accessories and a yellow sweetheart rose corsage. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Philip Raho, was dressed in stone blue lace with matching jacket. Her accessories were white and her corsage pink roses and white carnations.

Breakfast, Reception

Immediately following the ceremony a breakfast was served at the bride's home. The reception from 1 to 4 was held at the Dells Supper Club which was beautifully decorated. The arrangement of permanent flowers which centered the buffet table was a gift to the bride. The four-tiered white wedding cake was built on champagne glasses decorated with roses and topped with a miniature of the bridal bouquet. Louise Couvillion of Chicago and Stephanie Ewig presided at the silver service. Punch was served by Ann LaTendresse, a college friend of the bride, and Cathy Swanson. Shirley Bennetti of Norway, a roommate of the bride, served the wedding cake.

The couple, following a honeymoon tour, will live in Rapid River where Mr. Vietzke will teach. The bride, an Escanaba Area High School graduate, attended Northern Michigan University, Marquette. Mr. Vietzke, a Rapid River High School graduate, received his degree from Northern where he affiliated with Alpha Phi Omega.

The rehearsal dinner Friday evening was held at the Stone House.

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read: "The great miracle, to human sense, is divine Love, and the grand necessity of existence is to gain the true idea of what constitutes the kingdom of heaven in man" (p. 560).

Included in the Bible readings will be a verse from Habakkuk (2:14). "For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea."

CHECK SIZES AND LABEL

All manufacturers don't size clothes the same way. A size 12 may fit you when it's made by one house and yet be too small when it comes from a different manufacturer. When you find one manufacturer's line fits perfectly, be sure to remember the label. It can save you shopping time in the future.

Karen Sue Riley Wed To Walter Welch Jr.

Walter Welch Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Welch Sr. of LaBranche, claimed as his bride on June 19, Karen Sue Riley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Riley of Faithorn.

Baskets of assorted flowers formed the setting for the 2 p.m. wedding at St. Michael's Church of Perronville. Rev. Raymond Smith, pastor, officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a floor length gown of crystalline taffeta with a fitted lace bodice, scoop neckline and long traditional tapered sleeves. The bouffant skirt was trimmed in Alencon lace and accented with a bow in center front. Her detachable train fell from her shoulders and was bordered with lace. Her headpiece was a pearl tiara with a mantilla lace veil covered by a bouffant veil of net. She carried a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations with streamers of tea roses set in a cascade arrangement.

Mrs. William Schmitt Jr., sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Suzanne Chartre, Bonnie Renier and Carol Welch, sister of the bridegroom, were aides. They wore floor length sheaths of powder blue taffeta with a back bow and train. Robbie Anne Strahl was a miniature bride. Her dress was a duplicate of the bride's.

Best man was Larry King. Francis Gagne, Danny Wells, David Riley, brother of the bride were attendants. Scott Miener of Faithorn, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

The wedding reception was held at the American Legion Hall in Powers. A dance followed. Pouring at the reception was Sallie Renier. The guest book was in charge of Barbara Welch. Mrs. Wayne Strahl cut the wedding cake.

The couple went to Mackinac Island for a honeymoon and will live in Negaunee.

today that 20 Viet Cong battalions — perhaps as many as 8,000 men — are now operating in South Viet Nam's five northernmost provinces.

Quick Victory Wanted

This said he based his information on captured documents and Viet Cong prisoners captured three weeks ago at the battle of Quang Ngai, 55 miles' south of the Da Nang air base.

This called for a massive U.S. arms buildup to bring the war to an end quickly.

"I want to see the U.S. Marines go into action," he said. "We need them to win this war."

This said a three-week lull in Viet Cong activity in the north was to be expected after the Quang Ngai battle. He said, another major attack is likely after the Communists reorganize their forces in the mountains.

He said a prime goal of the Communists was still to cut the nation in half and win a secure foothold on the coastline to increase infiltration into the south.

Peace Mission Denounced

In London, British Commonwealth leaders struggled to keep their Viet Nam peace mission from foundering after hearing it denounced by Red China and North Viet Nam as a U.S.-British fraud.

The government chiefs of Britain, Nigeria, Ghana and Trinidad and Tobago are prepared to set out on the peace mission, but delegates at the Commonwealth conference doubt it will amount to anything if the tour is confined to Saigon, Washington and possibly Moscow.

British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart told the House of Commons the British government still feels U.S. military actions in Southeast Asia were unavoidable.

Circus Travel Closely Mapped

By DAVE ANDREWS

The circus came to Escanaba today.

Monday it was in Manistique. Wednesday it will play Menominee. Thursday it will be in Iron Mountain and then on across the Upper Peninsula, Wisconsin and Minnesota to Canada.

That's the way it is with a circus on tour — two shows a day, seven days a week, seven months of the year.

When the season opens on April 15, there is no such thing as a vacation. Trucks roll, stakes are pounded and pulled, and the show goes on.

Performances in Escanaba are scheduled for 2 o'clock this afternoon and 8 o'clock tonight.

The Sells & Gray Circus is one of 38 circuses performing in the United States, about half of which continue the "Big Top" tradition with them from city-to-city, according to William English, circus manager.

Play Seven Days

"We have to play seven days a week," said English. "If we lay over a day the overhead continues without the income. It would be fatal to us."

English said the circus moves its equipment in a fleet of 22 trucks and trailers. There are about 85 people who travel with the show, including 25 performers.

Except in special circumstances, performers are not involved in either setup or take-down operations.

"The husband of Carmen del Molino, our aerialist, checks her rigging and the animal trainer sets up some of the props for his act," English said, "but otherwise performers don't participate in the moving operation."

English said that it normally takes about three and a half hours to put up the "Big Top" and about two hours to take it down and get it onto the trucks after a show.

Problem In U.P.

The big tent is folded up, then rolled onto a reel on its own truck.

The hippopotamus, billed as the world's largest at 6,800 pounds and star of the side-show attraction, rides on another truck. Lions for the animal act ride in the "cage truck" and horses are transported in another vehicle along with the camel and llama.

Performers, for the most part, travel in cars and pull trailers.

According to English, the schedule for the season is intricately mapped before the tour begins and showing in the Upper Peninsula presents a problem because of long distances between cities and sparse population.

"Escanaba is big enough to have a circus every year," he said. "So are Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie, but where would we go after that? Duluth? That's a long haul in one night."

English said the circus fills in with stops at the smaller towns and hopes to "break even."

"We hope to make our profits in the larger cities," he said.

Liquor Control Violations Are Very, Very Low

rective which permits military bases, which have bought liquor from the state to sell it to servicemen by package as well as by drinks at base bars. The bases can also buy direct from distillers, but haven't done it. SDDs will lose some package trade to this ruling as servicemen can now buy liquor cheaper on the base than from SDDs.

A $2 million a year leak of taxes on liquor also concerns the Commission. Present law permits a tourist to bring back one gallon of liquor duty free every 30 days and the tourist needn't bring it back personally, so this has developed a sizeable and growing trade in mail order, duty free liquor. Congress and the Legislature are moving to restrict such sales to persons 21 or older and to make personal pickup of the liquor necessary.

Legislation In Works

The Commission expects passage of a state law permitting tavern and Class A licensees to reclassify to Class B licenses (liquor) where they have been in business 5 years with the same owner and location and not subject to quota.

The Commission expects passage of a bill permitting transfer of a liquor license in the same county, but keeping local control of the licensing by defeating a proposal that a transfer could be denied only for good cause shown, which would have made the courts arbiters of licensing.

"The licensees are getting improperly tagged with responsibility for some liquor situations involving juveniles," said Leonard. "They tell us that many children can get liquor right at home and when they're in trouble they say they got it from a licensee—or, without explanation, some people think that a licensee is involved."

Campaign Denied

"We asked the Legislature for $200,000 for a campaign of education against juvenile drinking with its threat of a criminal record, but the request was denied. Parents have problems with some kids, but if they were forcefully reminded of what trouble drinking can cause on a youth's record they could put on more pressure. This has been done in Illinois, Florida and Colorado campaigns."

"Our licensees only average 1,500 violations of the liquor control law a year. With 28,000 licensees serving 85 million service contacts that's only a per centage of 0.0017 of violations, a real, real low point."

THE SELLS & GRAY CIRCUS is here for matinee and evening performances today at the U. P. State Fair Grounds under the sponsorship of the Escanaba Council, Knights of Columbus. ## How Long Will Viet War Last?

By HAL BOYLE

DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — How long will the war in South Viet Nam last?

The prospect is that victory still is an indefinite number of rice crops away and probably an indefinite number of billions of dollars.

That is, if it is fought to a military conclusion.

Some pessimists hold that victory on the battlefield can be won, if at all, only after decades of steady wearing struggle and that the only sensible solution will result from political negotiations. But no negotiations are in sight.

Some optimists think that a military verdict can be achieved in at most a few years by cutting off the Viet Cong from their supply sources and destroying their strength in the field by the attrition of many battles.

"We Can Win"

All agree, more or less, however, that military victory will be delayed or rendered impossible if the South Vietnamese fail to maintain a strong central government in Saigon which the people can respect and support.

After being in the country six weeks and talking with scores of people at many levels I wonder if my judgment of the situation is any better than it was after I had been here six hours.

This is one of those places in which the more you study the less sure you are that you have all the key facts in hand.

I'd like to present the view of some of those I've discussed the war with.

An American colonel: "I thought it was hopeless. But now I have hope. I think our airpower has enabled us to turn the corner. It boosted the morale of the people. I don't know how long it will take but I believe now we can win."

A French businessman: "You can't win with airpower and you can't win by running up and down the roads in armored cars. The French tried that and lost. You can't win except with masses of infantry. Until you do that we are all prisoners here."

An American major:

"If we had enough artillery and mop-up units stationed along the Laotian border to intercept their supplies we could whip them in the field. I'd say we could do it in two or three years."

A veteran newspaperman:

"The Viet Cong aren't getting weaker, they're stronger. They used to fight as squads, platoons or, at the most, as companies. Now they're organized at the battalion and even regiment level. They hold the countryside. We hold cities. Our air power is hurting them but where are we going to get the manpower to whip them?"

An American sergeant: "If they (the South Vietnamese) can't win with their own guts we can't do it with dollars. This whole country to me isn't worth one drop of American blood. I got out of here in three months and I'll be glad to go."

Enemy Gets Stronger

An American captain: "We can win over here if the American people will just stick with us. If a guy is willing to lay his life on the line to what we're trying to do over here, the people back home shouldn't mind paying a little extra tax money."

Whatever the outcome of the war is, clearly it isn't a struggle for the sunshine soldier or the summer patriot. It's a grinding, bewildering in a quest for success.

House Passes 39 Bills, Has 49 For Today

Dearborn Heights, also tried a second time to make a $500,000-a-year start toward lowering the tolls on the Mackinac Bridge. He tried to amend a bill dealing with the severance tax on gas and oil removed from the ground to increase state revenue to help pay off the $99 million in bonds still outstanding against the $100 million bridge.

It would have raised the tax from two to three per cent a year but was generally criticized as being too small to make a significant difference.

Slime On Nets Called Algae

Slimes on commercial fishermen's nets from the Bay de Noc area submitted for State Water Resources Commission examination by Roy Jensen of Escanaba, secretary of the Michigan Fish Producers Association, have been examined and identified.

Joseph Bal, manager of the Upper Peninsula office of the Water Resources Commission said its biologist reported on material from Jensen delivered in a glass jar, and taken from the nets of commercial fishermen:

The biologist reported: "The bulk of the material clinging to the nets was a filamentous algae, probably Meugeotia. Once the mass was established an assemblage of diatoms became associated with the matrix of Meugeotia and added to its bulk. This phenomenon was probably associated with the spring-high of plankton."

Bal interpreted this report by explaining that "algae and diatoms are microscopic plant life that are abundant in any body of water. They are easily seen when they group together and form floating or attached slimy growths. All of the aquatic organisms which supply the food for fish populations are dependent on these algae and diatoms for a food supply."

"Studies by the University of Minnesota at Duluth have shown that nets set in Lake Superior at great distances from shore will get covered with slime growths. These organisms, which are naturally present in the water, unseen with the naked eye, will mass and grow on any material to which they can attach themselves."

Reports Shows Fewer Forest Fires In U.P.

Twelve fires burned 9.7 acres in the Upper Peninsula state protection area for the week ending June 18, according to Karl Kidder, regional fire supervisor, Department of Conservation, Marquette.

No fires were reported from the Crystal Falls District, four were reported from the Escanaba District (which area is comprised of Delta, Marquette, and west one-half of Alger Counties) burning 1.9 acres; and three were reported from the Newberry District.

A total of 116 fires have burned 272.1 acres in the Upper Peninsula to date. Last year at this time, there had been 256 fires reported burning 999.5 acres.

MICHAEL R. BOYLE, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Boyle, 1619 9th Ave. S., Escanaba, is graduating with a B. B. A. degree from the University of Michigan's Business Administration School. He was associated with the Kappa Sigma social fraternity, was active in intramural sports, and has been accepted for graduate study at the University School of Business Administration where he will work toward his Masters degree in Marketing and Finance. ## Mars Pictures To Be Held Up

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — There's a chance the best of the 18 to 21 photographs the U.S. spacecraft Mariner 4 takes of Mars July 14 may not be released to the public for weeks or even months.

A spokesman for Jet Propulsion Laboratory says scientists have agreed to immediate release of only the first three photographs, and possibly some others.

The rest of the historic pictures, which could show whether there are canal-like structures on the planet believed most likely to harbor extraterrestrial beings, may be withheld for detailed study and analysis.

"Our agreement with the scientists assigned to study the photographs gives them a proprietary right to scientific information, including the photographs, obtained by the spacecraft," said a spokesman for the laboratory, which built and is tracking Mariner 4 on its 325-million-mile voyage.

"So far they have agreed to release only the first three and possibly some others. We are hoping, however, that at least the best of the remainder can be released as fast as they are received and processed."

We'll give you 60 seconds to read this message. That's the time it takes a news bulletin to reach this newspaper from the other side of the world.

Right now, big stories are breaking in Washington, Saigon, Moscow, and Leopoldville. And, on-the-spot reports are being whisked over the wires, headed straight for our news room. Since we're a member of The Associated Press, it only takes a minute.

Mets Hand Dodgers Second 1-0 Setback

By The Associated Press

The New York Mets aren't sentimental after all. They were filled with sentiment for six innings Monday night. Then Joe Christopher went and spoiled it with a bunt single leading off the seventh inning.

Billy Cowan made it even worse in the ninth inning when he slammed his first homer of the season, giving the Mets a 1-0 victory over the National League - leading Los Angeles Dodgers and Claude Osteen.

The triumph came exactly one year after Jim Bunning pitched a perfect game against the Mets for the Philadelphia Phillies, who also were in first place at the time.

The Mets appeared to be staging a fitting observance of the first anniversary, if not with a perfect game, at least with a no-hitter. But Christopher broke up the celebration, and all the Mets wound up with was their second consecutive 1-0 Monday night victory.

It was one week ago that the Mets failed to hit Cincinnati's Jim Maloney for 10 innings before Johnny Lewis' leadoff homer in the 11th beat the Reds 1-0. While tossing sentiment out to left field, the Mets recorded another landmark along the way to immortality. The victory enabled them to compile a two-game winning streak against the Dodgers for the first time in their four-year existence.

Osteen allowed the Mets only two hits while the Dodgers managed just three off Al Jackson, who never had beaten them before.

Player Defeats Nagle To Join Golf Greats

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Gary Player, a black-clad little South African with a flair for the dramatic, deftly etched his name among a select list of golf's immortals and said that was enough, he had all he wanted, the money wasn't important.

"The money is immaterial — the honor is the thing," Player said Monday, after winning the U.S. Open Golf Championship and immediately turned his $25,000 check over to the U.S. Golf Association.

His three-stroke victory over Australian Kel Nagle in the 18-hole playoff made him the first foreign winner in 45 years and only the third man ever to sweep the four big prizes of professional golf — the U.S. and British Opens, the PGA and the Masters.

Joins Great Golfers
He now stands with Gene Sarazen and Ben Hogan at the pinnacle unattained by any others, the legendary figures of another era or the giants of today.

The forgotten man in golf's Big Three, Player reasserted his right to a spot in that company in overwhelming fashion. Arnold Palmer has yet to win the PGA, Jack Nicklaus has yet to win the British Open.

"I have made most of my money and won most of my golfing fame in this country," Player said in announcing his intention to turn the check over to the USGA.

"I feel I owe this country a great deal. I feel it is my duty to do something for this country and for golf."

Caddie Gets $2,000
"So I'm turning the check over to Joe Dey (executive director of the USGA) and asking him to give $5,000 to the Cancer Fund. My mother died of cancer. The rest, I would like to see funneled into junior golf in this country."

He gave $2,000 to his caddie, Frank Pagel, 16.

The actual prize money was $25,000, but the USGA put another $1,000 into the pot for both Player and Nagle after they tied at the end of 72 holes at 282 and the 18-hole playoff went into effect.

Player leaped into command at the start, taking a birdie 4 while the 44-year-old Australian bogeyed the first hole of the vastly frustrating 7,191 - yard Bellerive Country Club course.

Player ran in birdie putts of 35 feet each on the next two holes, went 2-up and, for all intents and purposes, it was over. Nagle was never even again.

Drive Hits Woman
The close-trotting Australian, who forced the tie when Player blew a three-stroke lead with three holes to play the day before, wrecked his chances with a shattering double bogey on the fifth.

His drive hooked far to the left, into the gallery crowning a small hill, struck a woman in the head and bounded into the rough.

"When we walked up, the lady was lying there," Player said. "I did that once in South Africa. It can make you sick. I didn't want to concentrate on the next shot."

"Kel said, 'I feel awful, Gary,' and I said, 'so do I.' 'I feel it upset Kel.'"

Nagle's next shot also whipped into the crowd, glancing off a woman's ankle.

"He must have felt horrible," Player said. "It was like a butcher shop."

Gary had a five-stroke advantage at the turn. He held it, playing his usual brand of conservative, control golf, until the last two holes when he took cautious bogeys.

Home To Family
Player said he now plans to return to South Africa to be with his wife and five children, including 15 - day - old Theresa, whom he hasn't seen.

"I feel I can now cut down my travel and spend more time with my family," he said. "I love golf very much, but I love my children more."

"Now I can pick what I want to do. I don't have to be rushing off to Australia, rushing off to Spain, rushing off to Mexico. I can hunt and fish and ride and be with my family."

"I can pace myself, choose my tourneys as Hogan used to do."

"I wanted desperately to win this one. I wanted it more than anything else in my life. I've worked hard for it, too. I'm 29 years old, and I've traveled more than a million miles."

"This was the most wonderful day of my life. But now I want to be with my family."

Champ Misses State Amateur

CHARLEVOIX (AP) — Assured that one of them will emerge as the new champion, 224 golfers are scheduled to tee off Wednesday in the first qualifying round of the Michigan Amateur Golf championship.

Defending champion Doug Hankey of St. Johns announced he would not defend his title because of a "swing problem" then changed his mind, but was too late.

By the time young Hankey decided his game was under control again, more than 70 entries had already been turned back.

Steve Uzela of Detroit, the runner-up last year, also is missing.

But there are seven ex-champions in the field, headed by five-time champion Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile.

Others who have won the title in the past and who are entered are Melvin (Bud) Stevens of Detroit; Tom Draper of Birmingham, the North and South champion; Ben Smith of Detroit; Mike Andonian of Pontiac; and Ed Flowers of Pontiac, the 1958 titlist.

Bud Stevens' entry was a day late but he was named the sixth alternate and eventually got a place when earlier entries were forced to withdraw.

After qualifying rounds Wednesday and Thursday, the field will be cut to the low 64 qualifiers. Match play over the Belvedere Golf Club course begins Friday with two rounds scheduled each day through Sunday.

The competition was held at the Grosse Ile and West Shore Golf Clubs.

Claude Dwight of Detroit was second with 149, followed by Mike Andonian, Pontiac, 150; and Roy Smith, Detroit and Howard Slocum, Ann Arbor, both 151.

All boys 8 to 14 are invited to take part in the program, directed by Joe Rademacher. The first general practice will be held this evening.

Because of a circulatory ailment on fingers of his right hand, Open champion Ken Venturi missed qualifying for the final two rounds of this year's Masters by nine shots. He shot 77 and 80.

Atlanta Favors NFL Franchise For 1966 Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Atlanta will become the 15th team in the expanded National Football League in 1966 with a group headed by insurance man Rankin Smith Jr. of Atlanta as the likely owner.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle will screen the four or five applicants with the understanding that a lease on the new $18-million stadium is a must.

Although the rival American Football League also voted a 1966 franchise to the Cox Broadcasting Corp. of Atlanta on June 8, the nine-man Stadium Authority reportedly is overwhelmingly in favor of the NFL.

Arthur Montgomery, chairman of the board, has set a July 1 deadline for a decision on the lease.

"We feel there is very, very strong sentiment in Atlanta and the state of Georgia for an NFL franchise," said Rozelle after announcing the award of the franchise Monday by a unanimous vote.

Joe Foss, AFL commissioner who was in New York for a meeting with his league's expansion committee, commented:

"All I can say is congratulations to the NFL," and added that the problem of getting the AFL into Atlanta rested with the Cox group.

Atlanta kicked up its heels and celebrated when sports fans heard the NFL news. "We're in the big leagues now," they shouted at the stadium where 39,402 watched the Milwaukee Braves (Atlanta Braves in 1966) play an exhibition baseball game with Minnesota.

Rozelle said he would screen the applicants before selecting one and then would ask the club owners for approval of his choice in a telephone vote. "I feel they will accept my recommendation," said Rozelle who will begin negotiating immediately.

This is the first step in major expansion by the NFL, which will have 16 teams in 1967, divided into two conferences, each split into two divisions.

The Atlanta team will operate as a swing team and will play each of the 14 other teams once in 1966. As a result, the season will run 15 weeks and each team will have a one-week bye.

The team will have first draft pick next December and will have one extra draft selection in each of the first five rounds.

Stocking with veteran players will be set up at the February meeting.

Barnum Makes PGA Tourney

ANN ARBOR (AP) — John Barnum of Grand Rapids stroked 72-70—142 Monday for first place and one of three spots available in the qualifying round for the National PGA Golf Tournament at Barton Hills.

Barnum's score was two under par and led the field of 53 pros by one stroke.

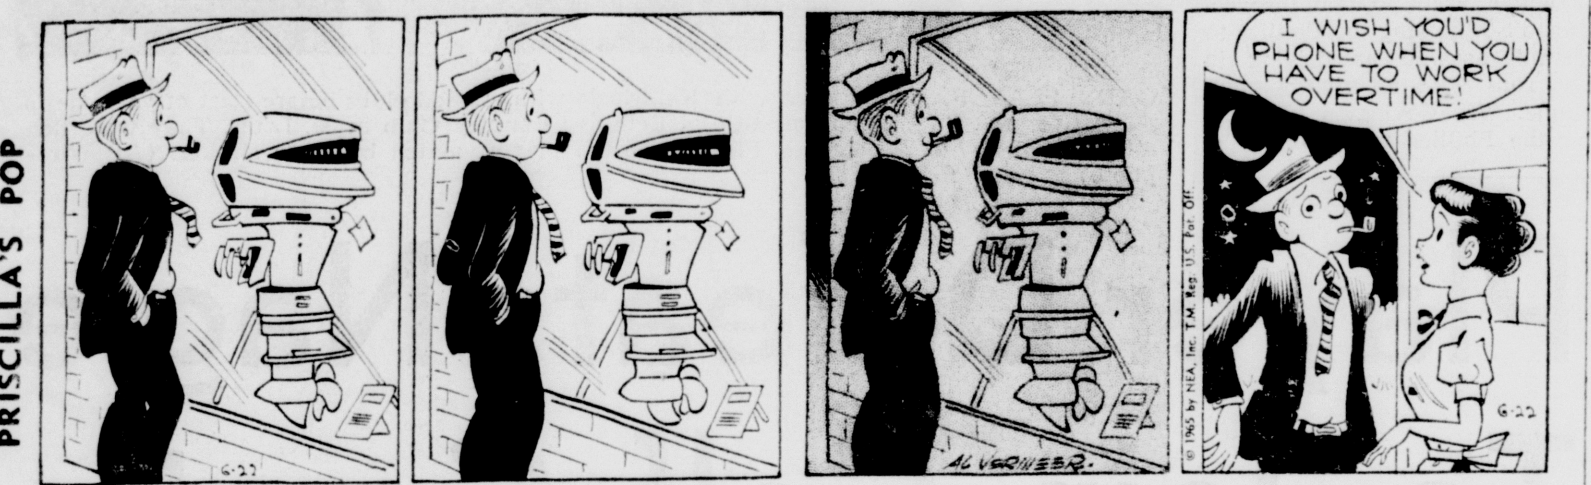

The other qualifying spots went to John Dalrymple of St. Clair Shores and Glen Stuart of Grand Rapids. Dalrymple was second with 71-72—143 and Stuart was third with 70-75—145.

The National PGA meet will be held at Ligonier, Pa., in August.

Award Given To McLaughlin

DETROIT (AP) — Robert C. McLaughlin, who served as chairman of a governor's commission which recommended improvements in Michigan's conservation program, was awarded a special medallion Monday on the recommendation of the governor.

The American Motors Conservation Award, one of 20 distributed nationally each year by AMC, was presented to McLaughlin by Gov. George Romney at a luncheon.

McLaughlin, vice president of public relations for McLouth Steel Corp. of Detroit, was an employee of the Michigan Department of Conservation for 14 years before joining the McLouth company.

The governor recalled that during the 1962 campaign "it became obvious that the state conservation program was not operating at top efficiency." He said that soon after he took office he named McLaughlin to head a 20-man commission to make a non-partisan study of the state's conservation program and ways of improving it.

"Due in large part to the work done by that commission, headed by Bob McLaughlin, the State Conservation Department has made a tremendous turnabout and is now moving ahead in the right direction at top speed," the governor said.

McLaughlin's name was entered in AMC's annual contest by Romney. Of this Romney said laughingly, "My recommendation was of no help to him—in fact it probably caused the committee which picked the national winners to take an even closer look at him."

McLaughlin told the group that the work on which the AMC award was based was done by the 20-man committee.

"I was lucky to have such a fine group to work with and they deserve the honors more than I do," he said.

The AMC awards for outstanding work in conservation have been in effect since 1953.

DuPont Heiress Leaves Estate Of 10 Million

DETROIT (AP) — Mrs. Ethel duPont Roosevelt Warren, heiress and former wife of Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., left virtually her entire estate, estimated at $10 million, to her three sons. She gave half a million dollars to Harvard Medical School.

Mrs. Warren, heiress to the du Pont family chemicals fortune, specified in her will, filed for probate Monday, that her second husband, attorney Benjamin S. Warren, is to receive nothing. She and Warren were separated.

The sons are Franklin D. Roosevelt III and Christopher du Pont Roosevelt, both born of Mrs. Warren's first marriage, to the late President's son, and Benjamin S. Warren III, 11, who lives with his mother.

Mrs. Warren, one time famed beauty and belle of eastern society, took her own life May 25. She was 49. Friends said she had been despondent over illness.

In her will she left all her personal property to her sons and their families. She gave future grandchildren the right to choose articles from her estate but said "no child under 18 shall have the right to select an automobile."

Mrs. Warren's body was found May 25 hanging from a shower curtain in her home in suburban Grose Pointe Farms. Her death was ruled suicide.

Circle To Have Swedish Numbers Auto Industry Keeps Up Pace

By CHARLES C. CAIN
AP Business News Writer

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry rolled along at a 200,000 cars-a-week production pace today as it pointed towards a goal of about 1.3 million more autos before the final 1965 model is built.

Output last week was estimated at 206,478 cars, marking the 19th week this year that the 200,000 weekly mark has been passed.

The five-millionth '65 model is due to roll off an assembly line Thursday for a new industry record. It will be 36 days ahead of the old five-million production mark set July 30 last year.

Auto makers' production schedules call for the rest of the '65 run call for 320,000 cars in the remainder of June, 760,000 in July and 215,000 in the wrap-up weeks of August.

If they attain those goals it would make the final count for the 1965 model run about 8.85 million cars, nearly a million vehicles ahead of the old mark of 7,880,845 set in the 1964 model run.

Reports from the field that dealer stocks were in pretty good shape caused most auto makers to ease off on use of overtime work last Saturday.

The exception was Ford Motor Co. which had 13 of its 16 assembly plants on premium pay operations Saturday. General Motors had two of its 21 plants on overtime work that day, while Chrysler and American Motors worked five-day weeks.

Two car - deer accidents which happened Sunday were reported to State Police Monday. Robert Simonsen, Rapid River, reported he hit a deer with his car on Federal Forest Highway 13 at 4 p. m. after 17 miles north of U. S. 2. William Avery, Rock, told police he struck a deer on U. S. 41, about one mile north of Co. Rd. 444, Masonville Township, at 9:30 p. m.

William Hanson, Milwaukee, who was arrested by State Police Saturday and charged with drunk driving, pleaded guilty Monday when arraigned before Justice Ross Davis of Gladstone and was fined $50 and assessed court costs of $5. His driver's license was also suspended.

Brother Given Sister's Kidney

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Michigan woman and her brother were reported in good condition and resting well at Cleveland Clinic Hospital Monday night following an operation in which one of the woman's kidneys was transplanted to the brother.

Mrs. Laverne Buckelew, 43, of Bancroft, Mich., said in Detroit last week another clinic told her she had three kidneys and that she would donate one to her brother, Robert Elton, 47, of Ithaca, Mich., who had none.

Doctors at Cleveland Clinic told Mrs. Buckelew that she had only two kidneys, but she decided to go through with the operation anyway.

A hospital spokesman explained the woman's kidney on the left side is enlarged and has two drainage systems. He said that apparently is how the story about the three kidneys got started.

Mrs. Buckelew, who works in a department store, donated the kidney on her right side, which is normal.

Elton's kidneys were removed at the hospital here last Wednesday because they were diseased. He has been using an artificial kidney to filter from his blood poisons that his own kidneys could not handle.

The hospital spokesman said doctors told him there is nothing unusual about the type of kidney transplant performed, but added that it probably would be several days before it can be determined whether the operation is successful.

Wild Turkeys To Be Hunted

LANSING (AP) — The legislature has given Michigan residents the privilege of obtaining a Thanksgiving turkey dinner the Pilgrim way—by shooting a wild turkey.

"Michigan's first open season on wild turkeys in this century is now assured unless disaster strikes the flock of about 700 birds in the Allegan Forest," said Rep. Joseph Snyder, D-St. Clair Shores, Conservation Committee chairman and sponsor of the bill.

He said the Conservation Department is considering making the season a nine-day period in early November and making a limited number of hunting permits available, depending on the turkey population.

The bill, which was sent to the governor Monday, also set new opening days for the 16-day firearm deer season.

Opening days will be the third Saturday of November in the Lower Peninsula and on the Saturday nearest Nov. 15 in the Upper Michigan.

Other provisions of the law make it illegal to kill timber wolves (less than 20 remain) and extend bow and arrow deer hunting to Emmet, Menominee and Chippewa counties.

Pig Production Shows Decline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan's pig production during the 1965 spring season declined from the previous year under the impact of last year's relatively low hog prices, the Agriculture Department reports.

The state's pig crop was 544,000 for 1964 and 433,000 this year, reflecting the national trend. The national decline was 10 per cent.

The department said a further decline of eight per cent in the fall season crop below that of a year earlier is expected.
